Citizen Me: Rights & Responsibilities

Dear Aunt Sally,

This week in Civics we began to learn about Citizenship. Did you know that I'm a citizen?! It's true! I'm a citizen in many different communities. I'm a citizen at home, at school, in our city, in our state and in our country. Everyday, I live many of the responsibilities and rights that I have from being a citizen. For example, just yesterday, I walked to school. Since the sidewalk are controlled by our city, and I am a citizen of our city, I had the right to use them. Some

Other examples are...

Did you know one of your rights as a Citizen of the United States is the right to vote?

In closing, I learned ...

My pyramid drawing of my Rights & Responsibilities

Experienced at diferent levels yesterday that I drew below may help you....

See how I wrote the level of Citizenship that I experienced this right at. Be sure to have examples of all levels.
